Mayor John Labrosse has been campaigning on phantom redevelopment and imaginary tax decreases.

But, the truth is, Mayor Labrosse has sold out Hackensack taxpayers and City employees, costing us all tens of millions of dollars:

He negotiated a $47 million giveback of taxpayer money to Hackensack University Medical Center, his personal employer, at the same time he was negotiating a promotion and salary increase for himself. <sup>(1) (2) (3)</sup>

He gave Councilman Battaglia's wife, a City employee, an illegal 21% raise causing an entire City department to sue and costing taxpayers thousands of dollars in a settlement. <sup>(4) (5) (6)</sup>

He has nearly tripled City borrowing, plunging us $50 million deeper in debt and sending interest costs through the roof. <sup>(13)</sup>

He tried to sell off our Sanitation Department and put 31 employees out of work despite a proposal that would have cost taxpayers more money. <sup>(10) (11) (12)</sup>

Almost three years after approvals, his big "redevelopment project" is still just a block long hole on Main Street. Developers get tax abatements... and we get a fence to keep people from falling into the giant pit that should be the heart of our business district. <sup>(7) (8) (9)</sup>
